

ELEVATED RAILROAD COACH OVERTURNED

There Were Eighty Passengers Aboard the Car.

FORTY PEOPLE ARE INJURED

While No One Was Seriously Yet All of Them Narrowly Escaped Being Dashed to Death on the Pavement Below.

Chicago, March 8.—Overturning high in the air on the Lake street elevated railroad today, a passenger coach with 80 persons aboard escaped being dashed to the granite pavement below.

One woman was pinioned on the tracks within a few inches of the deadly electric third rail, and then finally extricated alive, is fatally injured.

Forty others passengers were injured, but not seriously.

The upset was caused by the car missing a switch. The car was part of an accommodation train which runs from the Canal street station of the elevated road to Madison street and the market. At Market and Lake streets the train, consisting of two coaches, was turning south, and the first car had passed over the switch safely.
The trucks of the second car missed, and kept going forward in Lake street.
The power was on the first car. Not until the screams of the passengers and the crash of glass were heard did the motorman know of the accident.

Instantly the power was turned off and the results were confined to the overturning of the second car which fell on its side across the tracks.

Miss Judith Strom, of Austin, 11, fell out of a window and rolled under the heavy trucks of the second car, which held her shoulders to the tracks close beside the fully charged third rail.
The screams of the unfortunate woman could be heard for more than a block.

A crowd of hundreds of people went to the rescue of Miss Strom and the other passengers.

One passenger, named J. P. Henry, had a particularly narrow escape from death. Henry was standing on the front platform of the second coach.
When the car was turned over he was pitched out. His body struck the elevated structure and he was rolling off into the street below when he grasped a rail and clung desperately above the street until a fireman raised a ladder and carried him down to safety.

FORMER BUTLER IS WATCHED.

Believed that One of Mrs. Stanford's Household Poisoned Her.

San Francisco, March 8.—Charles M. Beverly, formerly butler, and Mrs.
M. P. Richmond, formerly maid in the Stanford household, have been closely examined by Captain of Detectives Burnett.

District Attorney Bernard and Attorney Boynton and Attorney Mountford Wilson were also present, the latter representing the Stanford estate.

Miss Grace Gilmore, a ward of the late Mrs. Stanford, said that she believed a murder had been committed and the murderer was now in this city.
She refused to name whom she suspected or designate the grounds of her suspicion.

Miss Gilmore said just before Mrs.
Stanford left for Honolulu the latter in conversation, said she was positive some one in her household had endeavored to poison her, but that she suspected no particular one.

Jerome B. Stanford, nephew of the late Senator Stanford, denies the statement that he intended to contest Mrs.
Stanford's will.

NATIONAL BANK IS SHORT.

$55,000 of Government Reserve Fund in Cincinnati Bank Missing.

Cincinnati, March 8.—The German National bank in this city is $55,000 short in its government reserve fund according to a story published here today. While this fund still contains much more money than the national banking laws prescribe, that amount has apparently been stolen from its special vaults, $50,000 in bills and $5,000 in gold.

On Dec. 13 the reserve fund was counted and found to be intact. Four weeks ago the shortage was discovered and the most thorough investigation has been carried on ever since without result. The German National is one of the strongest banks in this section, with a capital of $500,000, a surplus of half a million, undivided profits of $157,196 and total resources of nearly seven millions.

President Bohrer said the loss was comparatively small, and that it might be found later to be a matter of bookkeeping.

Negro Girl Stabs White Youth.

Atlanta, March 8.—A knife in the hands of an 8-year-old negro girl came near ending the life of a white youth last evening and the boy may yet die from the wound. A remarkable feature of the story is that the would-be young murderess made her escape.
Lovick Zuber, the youth who was stabbed, lives at No. 81 Central avenue, and Corrie Hynds, the girl who used the knife, lives at 105 Central avenue, in a basement. Zuber says he was cursed by the girl and he asked her to retract her words. Instead of doing so she jerked out a knife and came toward him. He tried to get out of her reach, and while turning to walk into his house, she stabbed him in the back.

North Carolina Mill Robbed.

Charlotte, N. C., March 8.—The Mc-Adenville mills, at McAdenville, a small station 17 miles from this city was burglarized last night and between $15,000 and $20,000 in money and certificates taken from the safe. The combination of the safe was worked, and the inner doors broke open with a war wrench. There is no clew to the robbers.

Montana Governor Won't Sign Bill.

Helena, Mont., March 8.—Governor Toole has deposited with the secretary of state, the railway commission bill with out his approval. The governor objects to the bill because it names the commissioners, holding that power is lodged with the executive.
